

A photograph of three students, two girls and one boy, practicing life-saving techniques on a mannequin. The girl on the left, with blonde hair and a white shirt, is performing mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The girl in the middle, with brown hair and a purple shirt, is performing chest compressions. The boy on the right, with brown hair and a blue striped shirt, is observing. The mannequin is lying on its back. The background is a plain, light-colored wall. The text 'L'ÉCOLE DES VIES' is at the top in large blue letters. Below it, on the right, is the text 'INTÉGRATION DES GESTES QUI SAUVENT DANS LE COURS D'ÉDUCATION PHYSIQUE: 10 HEURES RÉPARTIES TOUT AU LONG DE L'ENSEIGNEMENT SECONDAIRE'. In the bottom right corner, there is a blue circular graphic with the text '1 PROFESSEUR FORMÉ = DES MILLIERS D'ÉLÈVES ÉDUQUÉS AUX GESTES QUI SAUVENT'.
